DR. GARY ZOLA INVITED TO WITNESS PRESIDENT OBAMA'S REMARKS AT HISTORIC APPEARANCE IN WASHINGTON SYNAGOGUE

The President will be speaking in celebration of Jewish American Heritage Month

CINCINNATI, OH:--- On Friday, May 22, 2015, President Barack Obama will deliver remarks in celebration of Jewish American Heritage Month (JAHM) at Adas Israel Synagogue in Washington, D.C. The event also coincides with Solidarity Sabbath, when government officials in Europe and North America will be taking part in synagogue visits and other events to highlight their commitment to combating anti-Semitism.

Dr. Gary P. Zola, Executive Director of The Jacob Rader Marcus Center of the American Jewish Archives and the Edward M. Ackerman Family Distinguished Professor of the American Jewish Experience and Reform Jewish History at HUC-JIR/Cincinnati, has been invited to attend the historic event. "This particular occasion marks only the fourth time in United States history that a sitting U.S. President will address an audience or an assembly from the pulpit of an American synagogue," noted Dr. Zola, appointed by President Obama in 2011 as a member of the Commission for the Preservation of America's Heritage Abroad. "It will also be the first time that JAHM is honored from inside an American synagogue."

Zola says that although U.S. Presidents have laid cornerstones for American synagogues, and some sitting Presidents have spoken in synagogues outside of the USA, research at the American Jewish Archives shows that there are only three prior occasions when a sitting U.S. President spoke from the pulpit of an American synagogue addressing an assembly or audience.
